No. 19 declares that Amelia leads the venerable B. Young "by the nose." Very likely, much as every man is led by the nose by some woman or other. Still would the prophecies look well with a nasal elongation? Who knows?

Notwithstanding his connection with the temperance movement has given him the reputation of a full-blown radical, Dr. Dio Lewis is asserted to be constitutionally the most cold-blooded and conservative of the human race. "Bastard is willing" but the Golden Age is not; for it calls the Doctor "erratic" and intimates that his head is not level. Let us pray that a council will not come of it.

Is there any great amount of sense in the theory that localities in states have alternate claims to possess the persons of prominent officeholders? Western Massachusetts wants the Senator on the principle of turn-about. If the Legislature is willing, we have no objection, but where is the reason for it? Berkshire county can have the better no any the worse for the chance residence of the State Senator so far as he is officially concerned. What a small thing is local jealousy when great public interests are at stake.

The young Prince Napoleon made a neat speech at his mother's late reception; who wrote it? The son of his father is said to be the family faith in the family "star." If he will listen to a friend's advice from a far country he won't have anything to do with that "star." It led the uncle to St. Helena, the nephew to Sedan, and may lead the son into a very bad fix. Astrology as an occult science is played out, little Prince, and the world has gone into demology instead. Stars have been meddled with to that degree by modern "scientists" that no dependence can be placed on their movements, whatever. And the "heart of France" is no better, my boy, not a bit better.

We have had occasion once in a while to speak in disparaging terms of the President; and in proportion as to do so was a painful duty an opportunity to praise him is pleasant. We are able to say that an appreciative word for our executive in respect of the watch he keeps on the course of the editorial and Congressional legislation upon our finances. Gen. Grant is declared to be strongly opposed to the skywriting schemes of Logan & Co., and to have expressed his intention to veto any bill which may be passed looking to the immediate expansion of the currency. He is said to favor a carefully guarded free banking system, and to hold nearly or quite the same sentiment in relation to the "elastic" money question as we set forth in an editorial yesterday. We trust the President may see proper to embody his views in a message to Congress at an early day. For, although the debate lingers there and agreement upon a compromise bill appears difficult and slow, he is in a position to be entirely aware of the direction in which that body is recklessly drifting. And in this age of schisms and somersaults, it is not impossible that the final result may be a happy return to the financial theory of Gen. Grant, we hope, will not lose so great a chance to return to a degree the many mistakes of his administration as is afforded him in the emergency now upon us.

English Land Reform.

The great fact that Mr. Disraeli is not only an Englishman by convenience, but by nature, enhances our admiration for the courage with which he seizes the maddest political bull in the country squarely by the horns. Those who read the Queen's speech will remember that the Premier makes her Majesty allude therein to "the delay and expense attending the transfer of land to a republic, to our system of law and a serious obstacle to dealings in real property." Even a superficial thinker will readily see the depth and extent of the change which the Queen is caused covertly to recommend. It involves nothing less than an attack upon the long-established system of primogeniture and entail. An attempt to cut that out cannot in the nature of the case be any mere halting or half-way measure. It is a blow at a vital element in English aristocracy. Divide the few million acres of which England is composed among ten times as many owners as now hold and entail them, and we cannot see from this distance why a tremendous step has not been taken towards making Great Britain a republic. A privileged class must always be a landed class; titles, like cathedrals, must ultimately rest on the ground. If now we conceive the deer parks and grazing meadows of England, now the fields of three or four hundred acres, now the estate cut up into farms of one hundred acres or more or less, we have a picture left of an aristocracy without the estates which lend it dignity and influence. Many a day may sweep over the Parliamentary palace by the Thames before this last result is reached, but if our hasty sketch is not the logical outcome of Mr. Disraeli's programme, then the Premier abuses language and insults common sense. His position is the most singular in this matter from the fact that Disraeli himself is born of birth and breeding an aristocrat. Has the crafty old Jew an old trump in his sleeve, and will he turn out the leader of the Liberals after all?

"Funeral Baked Meats."

Food is often the thing; man is a feeding animal. From emperors and kings down to coal-heavers and scavengers, we all eat something and the habit tends to the amelioration of the condition. Food (perhaps food is the better word) is the principal separating bar between men and devils, for devils themselves would certainly become less diabolical if they could be furnished with good dinners and a hearty digestion. The number of devils, and how and where which would have prevented if the wrathful belligerents had only dined together just on the eve of the outbreak of hostilities is mournful to think of. The hard-headed, tough-headed, tough-minded, and afterwards became self-starved ascetics. An empty stomach is the most restless fanatic on earth; it is always hanging out the red flag and somehow breaking the peace. Fill the belly of the most radical revolutionist in the world for six months at a time, and when that awful howling mad scream through the streets of Paris crying "bread or blood!" it was the greatest of pities that Louis XVI. and his Austrian wife had no bread to give the people. The Bourbon dynasty might have been perpetuated by a plenteous rather than that time and change the face of the political world. But, alas! They understand this in Boston. The Tremont dinner was given there by the friends of Mr. Davis for the purpose of softening the hearts of some of these persistent voters for Charles and Hoar, by filling the stomachs of the heretics with food and drink. It was a good dinner and the gentlemen all enjoyed it; still only one convert resulted. The wine was probably poor and possibly they had none at all; but then—they must have had. Don't give it up so, gentlemen; you are on the right track. The stomach is the seat of the most ardent sentiments; it is undoubtedly the seat of the most ardent. Pudding and pastry will settle that dispute about the Senatorship if anything will; what can be laid on the table can easily be laid under it. Dinner is your universal harmonizer and civilizer before and since the time when Hamlet's "funeral baked meats" did only furnish forth the marriage tables.

No Laughter.

Mr. G. F. Hoar has called the attention of the House to the presence in the official reports of his proceedings of the words "laughter," "sensation," etc., and says they have no business there. The Speaker promptly agreed with the protestant, and instructed the stenographers to omit them and their kind kindred. We won't pretend to misrepresent Mr. Hoar's motive in desiring the exclusion of these words; it does appear undignified that the accounts of what the House does should be marred by such trivial references. For, as we all know, if there is one thing more than another upon which our representatives as a body justly pride themselves, it is their sedateness and solemnity. We wouldn't be responsible for the assertion that the half-acre of legislative field is never brightened by a smile, because deep, dark, heavy, even as sometimes lighted up in a gloomy day by an evanescent sheet of fugitive sunlight. Hence there could be nothing intrinsically wrong in it. And it must be painfully confessed, there have been times, all the more remarkable for their rarity, when the House has been caught off its guard and broken out into a veritable guffaw, loud and hearty as that of Sir Walter Scott's priest of St. Dunstan when he had come in from a successful hunt after the king's deer. Such an occasion, memorable from the reproaches of themselves in which members indulged after it was over, was the time when Cox (Dem.) made his witty remarks on the motion. What with the rollicking manner of the speaker, the pertinency of his analogies, the profundity of his scientific quotations, his fits of comical gravity, his—well, the whole thing was irresistible; it would have thrown a bunch of dyspeptic bishops into spasms. The House laughed and cheered upon its panting sides, and Heaven wot who can wonder. The authorized reporters struggled with their pencils; they wrote the scene fully out, not forgetting to intersperse their pages with the frequent, parenthetic "laughter," "sensation," etc. We, ourselves, have doubts as to whether the affair should not have ended on the spot; both as to the fun and the record of the speech which made the fun. We speak now for posterity, which may by a chance be too weak in the ribs to read Cox's speech without damage to the cartilaginous lining of its mortal frame. That speech has, however, gone on the record; let us hope it will do no harm to statesmen yet unborn. But as for the letting an account of the conduct of the House under the influence of it go on the record too—why, we agree with Mr. Hoar, that it should not be permitted. Who can tell, indeed, whether the coming man will laugh at all, or whether, if we keep on tearing things to pieces, he will find his arisal anything to laugh at. And if, like "Noble, all in tears," he should happen upon a copy of the record and see the words "laughter," "sensation," and such, in the midst of the reports of his mighty debates, why, what would he think? No; Hoar is right; it won't do. But isn't G. F.'s uncommon seriousness somewhat connected with the Massachusetts vote on the Senatorial silliness?

CURRENT TOPICS.

—Somebody's going to be awfully disappointed by that Connecticut election.

—Some of the New York officials think Genet is still in that city.

—Thurloe West came down on that $90,000 Swinburne appropriation heavily.

—Feasting and fasting and prayer seem to be equally efficacious in settling that Massachusetts Senatorship.

—The Sin ought to be ashamed of itself to start afresh the Beecher scandal. It could shine on worthier subjects.

—Dawes' energies are raking up the Credit Mobilier and will pretty soon have a lively buzz about his ears.

—The statues in Prospect Park are rusty, and the Brooklyn Argus wants some washerwoman to scrub them up.

—The chronic business retains its popularity. A Brooklyn youth gives a street Arab a chromo to steal oranges for him.

—The great question of the day is, "What will the President do about the inflation bill?"

—The Tribune dubs the bill to send commissioners to Alaska to look after the interests of the government "A bill to provide for summer excursions."

—The witnesses before the District of Columbia investigating committee seem to equal the Credit Mobilier witnesses in know-nothingism. Who has a little memorandum book?

—Lyman Tremain hasn't made the impression in Congress he was expected to. A good lawyer is not necessarily a good Congressman.

—George Ripley, the literary editor of the Tribune, is the only writer of note in literary circles who has never published a book. He deserves well of a long-suffering world.

—The House has voted to expunge from the official reports of its proceedings the words "laughter," "applause," etc. Like Mr. Pecksniff, our Congressmen are bound to be models of deportment.

Conflicting Reports.

PARIS, April 3.—The Carlists have information that a revolt has broken out in Bilbao; that only half of the army there has been engaged in the recent battles; that General Santes will shortly march with a strong division upon Madrid and cut off Marshal Serrano's communications.

MADRID, April 3.—An official dispatch states that 410 officers and men have deserted from Santes' command and come into the republican lines.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Another Ashantee Difference.

LONDON, April 3.—The latest advice from Cape Coast Castle is to March 12th. An embassy numbering with its escort 250 persons had arrived there from the Ashantee King. It was reported that they refused to discontinue human sacrifices and disputed the amount of the indemnity.

METROPOLITAN NEWS.

The Brooklyn United States District Attorneyship.

NEW YORK, April 3.—District Attorney Tenney of Brooklyn called for the resignation of Assistant District Attorney Hughes. The latter accordingly forwarded it to Washington, accompanied by charges of official misconduct against his superior, furnishing the latter a copy of the same. The charges consist of retaining money received in compromise suits long after payment without accounting therefor. Hughes claims he will be Assistant District Attorney again in ten days, but under a new deal. Hughes is a brother-in-law of Attorney General Williams and is believed to have the support of Supervisor Hawley and his friends.

A GARBOTER CATCHER.

Gen. Leman was garroted on Clinton avenue, Brooklyn, four o'clock this afternoon while walking with a number of ladies and robbed of a gold watch. The garroter was captured after a desperate fight by some workmen and turned over to the police.

A NICE TRADE.

New York detectives have discovered and arrested parties making and furnishing tools to prisoners confined in Sing Sing wherewith to break jail. Fifty of the latter are said to have escaped within six months. The officers obtained imprints of locks at Sing Sing and applied to suspected parties to furnish them with skeleton keys. The locksmith fell into the trap and boasted he had already made keys for Sing Sing locks. A woman named Mayers, who has been engaged in conveying keys to prisoners, is now in jail at Lockport. She will be brought here.

WHOLESALE GRAIN THEFTS.

The Brooklyn police last night captured five men in the act of stealing the entire cargo of the canal boat Charles Bates, loaded with wheat in bulk. One of the thieves was employed on the boat and in the absence of the captain last night hired a tug and had the boat towed from the Anchor Line dock to Brooklyn, where they were engaged in transferring the grain to sacks and removing it when captured. The cargo consisted of seven thousand bushels of wheat. Eighty bags were filled ready for removal and a large number of empty sacks on hand ready for filling.

PLYMOUTH CHURCH'S CONFIDENCE IN BEECHER.

At an informal meeting of prominent members of Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, a few evenings since both the project of building the largest church in Brooklyn and giving the pastor six months' vacation were favorably talked of as a fitting mark of the confidence of the members in Mr. Beecher and appreciation of his labors.

HAMILTON THE EMBELLER.

Inspector Murphy of Jersey City has returned empty-handed from the pursuit of Hamilton, the defaulter. Treasurer. He reports that Hamilton is still in Matamoros and that Corina, who has possession of all the stolen bonds, offered to sell them for less than one-third their value. Hamilton is in a state of positive destitution.

THE CITY INDEBTEDNESS.

Five days ago the Commissioners of Accounts sent a report to Mayor Havemeyer in relation to the bonded debt of the city and county of New York on the 31st of December, 1873. The Mayor refused to disclose the nature of the document, leaving the Commissioners of Accounts to do so. Late this evening the following statement was issued as the result of the investigation of the committee: Funded debt, total amount outstanding December 31st, 1873, $69,624,054.49; temporary debt to same date $21,927,372.30; revenue bonds $8,690,279.29; total $100,241,705.99. Total county debt $31,627,865.23; city and county debt, less outstanding warrants, $151,295,572.22. Total city and county debt, less sinking fund securities, $106,931,924.42.

THE CANAL AMENDMENT.

Opinion of ex-Governor Seymour.

ALBANY, April 3.—Ex-Governor Seymour, in a letter to Hon. Israel S. Hatch to-day, says: "I have given a good deal of thought to your proposed amendment to the Constitution with regard to our canals, and I have come to the conclusion that it should be adopted. No one should object to its submission to the people, as the discussion it will call forth will be of great value to the interests of commerce. Our canals are now in a critical condition; unless wise measures are now adopted they will become heavy burthens of taxation to our people, instead of being the channels of cheap transportation."

A LITTLE GATE.

A Bank Cashier's Device to Hide his Crime.

EMERSON, Pa., April 3.—D. D. Williams, Cashier of the Connecticut National Bank, which was reported robbed some weeks ago, was arrested to-day, his bail having surrendered him. The morning of the reported robbery Williams was found in the bank gagged and senseless. Recent investigation of the bank books show a defalcation of $27,000 in addition to the reported robbery of $47,000, which caused suspicion of the guilt of Williams.

THE NEW UNITED STATES JUDGE.

Hon. Wm. J. Wallace's Accomplishments.

STANBURY, April 3.—Hon. Wm. J. Wallace of this city, whom the President has nominated for United States Judge for the Northern District of New York, is a lawyer of very large practice and aged thirty-five. He is a son of the late E. F. Wallace, who was United States Consul at Santiago de Cuba under Presidents Lincoln and Johnson. The legal education of Judge Wallace was acquired principally at Hamilton College Law School under Professor Theodore W. Dwight, now of Columbia College Law School. He was last year Mayor of Stanbury. The nomination is received here with great favor by the bar and citizens.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

The Geneva Award.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—The House Judiciary Committee this morning postponed the further consideration of the various propositions for the distribution of the Geneva award until Monday, the 13th inst., when it is their intention to take final action in the matter.

ZACH CHANDLER ON THE WAR PATH.

Arrest of His Believer.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—About 10 o'clock to-night detective Sergeant of this city arrested Mr. Buell, correspondent of the St. Louis Republic and Detroit Free Press, on a charge of criminal libel on a warrant sworn out by Senator Chandler of Michigan. Buell was taken to the residence of Judge Snell, the Police Court being closed, and gave bonds in $5,000, Donat Platt being the bondsman, for his appearance before the Police Court at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

THE STATE LEGISLATURE.

SENATE.

ALBANY, April 3.

GENERAL ORDERS.

In Committee of the Whole, Mr. THOMPSON in the chair, the following bills were considered:

In relation to the estimates and appropriations for the support of government, New York city. Third reading.

In relation to the estimates and appropriations for the support of the government of the county of New York. Third reading.

Mr. GROSS offered the following:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to inquire and report the occupation, means and residence of the various persons named as incorporators in each of the city railroad bills now before the Legislature; also, whether such persons or either of them are named to represent others, and if so, whom and where they reside, and whether any understanding or agreement has been made by which said persons, or either of them, are to transfer or assign their shares or interests to any other person or persons, and that such committee have power to send for persons and papers.

The resolution was amended so as to confine the inquiry to Senate bills, and referred to the Railroad Committee.

Mr. FOX moved to recommit to the Railroad Committee the bill authorizing a railroad through Chambers street, New York. Carried.

Supplementary act for the incorporation of religious societies. Third reading.

Recess until 7:30 P. M.

EVENING SESSION.

The following bill was ordered to a third reading:

Providing that the addition of water or any substance other than a sufficient quantity of ice to preserve milk in transportation to market is an adulteration. Any milk that is obtained from animals fed upon any substance in a state of putrefaction or fermentation, or which is impure, filthy or unwholesome, is hereby declared to be impure and unwholesome. Any violations of the above provisions may be punished as provided for in chapter 467 of the laws of 1862.

Adjourned.

ASSEMBLY.

REPORTS.

Mr. LINCOLN, authorizing a street railroad in Catskill.

Mr. MACKIN, amending a street railroad charter in Poughkeepsie.

Also, relative to the collection of taxes in the town of Poughkeepsie.

Also, authorizing election of town officers in Delaware and Ulster counties.

Mr. PHILPOT, to incorporate the New York State Grange Patrons of Husbandry.

Also, to incorporate the Kingston Savings Bank.

BILLS PASSED.

In relation to the High School in Poughkeepsie.

For the care of Washington's Headquarters in Newburgh.

Adjourned until Monday evening at half-past 7 o'clock.

UNITED STATES CONGRESS.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, April 2.

Mr. CONKLING presented a petition of citizens of Onondaga county, N. Y., asking for a duty of 15 cents per pound on hops imported from foreign countries. Referred to the Committee on Finance.

Pending discussion on the Louisville Portland Canal bill the Senate at 3:30 o'clock adjourned until Monday.

HOUSE.

Among the bills passed was one reported by Mr. BAXTER of Ohio from the Committee on Foreign Affairs requesting the President to use his good offices with the English government for the discharge from prison of Edward O'Meara, a Fenian prisoner convicted on a charge of murder in Manchester, England.

There were altogether some seventy bills passed, nearly all of them pension bills. One of others was a resolution to send an expedition to an island in Lake Michigan and one for the relief of the officers and crews of the United States ships Wyoming and Taklong.

Mr. STEPHEN of Illinois offered a resolution directing the Committee on Invalid Pensions to inquire whether the system adopted by the managers of the National Military Asylum of delinquent fines and forfeitures for breaches of discipline was in accordance with the spirit and meaning of the pension laws.

Among reports made was one very important one from the Committee on the Coast and Geographical Names in the case of J. and T. Greene of Jackson, Mississippi. The claim was for $1,000,000 for the value of cotton and woolen mills destroyed during the rebellion by the rebellion in order of Gen. Grant and for cotton bonds and Confederate money taken from the bank at Jackson.

Mr. LAWRENCE of Ohio, Chairman of the committee, reported adversely to the claim on the ground that the property was destroyed as being an element of strength to the rebellion and that consequently the government is not bound to compensate the owners. The bill was laid on the table.

The House at 4:30 o'clock adjourned.

THE WEATHER.

To-day's Probabilities.

For the Middle States and lower lake region fresh and brisk easterly to northerly winds, generally cloudy weather and occasionally light rain and snow.

VICINITY.

At Lagrange, Dutchess county, cows sold for $50, and oxen from $117 to $215 per pair.

The Hudson street M. E. Sunday School of Albany subscribed $600 for missions last Sunday. It only numbers 280.

A large temperance meeting was held at Matin on Friday evening, and one at Rhinebeck on Wednesday night.

Mr. Charles St. John has repurchased the Port Jervis Union. There is talk of a morning daily.

The temperance people of Newburgh have petitioned the Excise Commissioners to grant no licenses except to hotels.

Father O'Hare of Goshen has been sued for $5,000 damages for an assault upon a young lady.

A Sullivan county man has had a Hamiltonian suspended between his ears since January, when he fell off a bridge and broke thro' 19-inch ice.

Liberty is exulting over old inhabitants. It has a President who has resided there fifty years, and a type who has set type for half a century.

A vessel entered a hotel at Peekskill on Thursday and killed a parrot hanging in a cage. A good rat dog was lying on the floor at the time.

On St. Patrick's Day a man named Joseph May got drunk in Hawley, Pa., and went home and set fire to his house in some way. He was a butcher and a miser. By great effort he was rescued, badly burned, but $1,500 had been hoarded up and stowed away in different places in the house was consumed.

There will not be more than one-third the lumber rafted on the Delaware this spring there was last. Hemlock is bringing $12 a thousand in Philadelphia, which operators say is ruinous. There has been no lumber of any consequence run yet, but about 25,000,000 feet are awaiting a freight.

NEW OVENS, NEW MACHINERY.

No. 19 declares that Amelia leads the venerable B. Young "by the nose." Very likely, inasmuch as every man is led by the nose by some woman or other. Still would the people look well with a nasal elongation? Who knows?

Notwithstanding his connection with the temperance movement has given him the reputation of a full-fledged radical, Dr. D. L. Lee asserts that he is constitutionally the most cold-blooded, and conservative of the human race. "Barkis is willin'" but the Golden Age is not; for it calls the Doctor "erratic" and intimates that his head is not level. Let us pray that a council will not come of it.

Is there any great amount of sense in the theory that localities in states have alternate claims to possess the persons of prominent officeholders? Western Massachusetts wants the Senator on the principle of turn-about it is fair play. If the Legislature is willing, we have no objection, but where is the reason for it? Berkshire county can be none the better not any the worse for the chance residence of the State Senator so far as he is locally concerned. What a small thing is local jealousy when great public interests are at stake.

The young Prince Napoleon made a neat speech at his mother's late reception; who wrote it? The son of his father is said to have the family faith in the family "star." If he will listen to a friend's advice from a far country he won't have anything to do with that "star." It had the whole of St. Helena, the nephew to Sedan, and may lead the son into a very bad fix. Astrology as an occult science is played out, little Prince, and the world has gone into demology instead. —Stars have been meddled with to that degree by modern "scientists" that demology can be placed on their movements, whatever. The "heart of France" is no better, my boy, not a bit better.

We have had occasion once in a while to speak in disparaging terms of the President and in proportion as he has shown himself a dutiful opportunity to praise him is pleasant. We are able to say such an appreciative word for our executive in respect of the watch he seems to be keeping over the counsel of Congressional legislation upon our finances. Gen. Grant is decidedly not to be compared to the sky-larking schemes of Logan & Co., and to have expressed his intention to veto any bill which may be passed looking to the inordinate expansion of the currency. He is said to favor a carefully guarded free banking system, and to have nearly or quite decided to continue in relation to the money "elastic" money question as we set forth in an editorial yesterday. We trust the President may see proper to embody his views in a message to Congress at an early day. For, although the debate lingers there and agreement upon a compromise bill appears difficult and slow, he is in a position to be entirely aware of the direction in which that body is recklessly drifting. And in this age of schemes and somersaults, it is not impossible that the final vote may show signs of returning sanity on the part of the devotees to a bastard financial theory. Gen. Grant, we hope, will not lose so great a chance to reduce to a degree the many mistakes of his administration as is afforded him in the emergency now upon us.

No Laughter.

Mr. G. F. Hoar has called the attention of the House to the presence in the official reports of its proceedings, of the words "laughter," "sensation," "ad lib," and says they have no business there. The Speaker promptly agreed with him, and instructed the stenographers to omit them and their kind benevolence. We won't pretend to misinterpret Mr. Hoar's motive in desiring the exclusion of these words; it does appear undignified that the accounts of what the House said and did should be marred by such trivial references. For, as we all know, if there is one thing more than another upon which our representatives as a body justly pride themselves, it is their sedateness and solemnity. We wouldn't be responsible for the assertion that the half-acre of legislative face is never brightened by a smile, because deep, dark larks have been sometimes lighted up in a gloomy day by an evanescent sheet of fugitive sunlight. Hence there could be nothing intrinsically wrong in it. And it must be penitently confessed, there have been times, all the more remarkable from their rarity, when the House has been caught off its guard and broken out into a veritable guffaw, loud and hearty as that of Sir Walter Scott's priest of St. Dunstan when he had come in from a successful hunt after the king's deer. Such an occasion, memorable from the reproaches of themselves in which members indulged after it was over, was the time when Cox (Dem.) made his witty remarks on the moth. What with the rollicking manner of the speaker, the pertinency of his analogies, the profundity of his scientific quotations, his fits of comical gravity, his well-timed whole thing was irrepressible; it would have driven a bunch of dyspeptic bishops into spasms. The House laughed and cheered upon his parting words, and Heaven wot! who can wonder. The authorized reporters struggled with their leaping pencils; they wrote the scene fully out, not forgetting to interpret their pages with the frequent, parenthetical "laughter," "sensation." We, ourselves, have doubts as to whether the affair should not have ended on the spot; both as to the fun and the record of the speech which made the fun. We speak now for posterity, which may by chance be too weak in the ribs to read Cox's speech without damage to the cartilaginous braces of its mortal frame. That speech has, however, gone on the record; let us hope it will do no harm to statesmen yet unborn. But as for the letting an account of the conduct of the House while under the influence of it go on the record too, why, we agree with Mr. Hoar, that it should not be permitted. Who can tell, indeed, whether the coming man will laugh at all, or whether, if we keep on tearing things to pieces, he will find his arrival anything to laugh at? And if, like "Noble, in all years," he should happen upon a copy of the Record and see the words "laughter," "sensation," and such, in the midst of the reports of his mighty debates, why, what would he say? No; humor is right; it won't do. But isn't G. F.'s unbecomingly seriousness somewhat inconsistent with the Massachusetts vote on the Senatorial silliness?

CURRENT TOPICS.

—Somebody's going to be awfully disappointed by that Connecticut election. —Some of the New York officials think Genet is still in that city. —Thurford Weed came down on that $90,000 Swinburne appropriation heavily. —Fasting and fasting and prayer seem to be equally ineffectual in settling that Massachusetts Senatorship.

—The Sir ought to be ashamed of itself to start after the Beecher scandal. It could shine on wretched subjects.

—Daves' enemies are raking up the Credit Mobilier and he will pretty soon have a lively buzz about his ears.

—The States in Prospect Park are rusty, and the Brooklyn Argus wants some washer-woman to scrub them up.

—The chronic lunacy retains its polarity. A Brooklyn youth gives a street Arab a chrome to steal oranges for him.

—The great question of the day is, "What will the President do about the inflation bill?"

—The Tribune dubs the bill to send commissioners to Alaska to look after the interests of the government "A bill to provide for summer excursions."

—The witnesses before the District of Columbia investigating committee seem to equal the Credit Mobilier witnesses in know-nothingness. Who has a little memorandum book?

—Lyman Tremont hasn't made the impression in Congress he was expected to. A good lawyer is not necessarily a good Congressman.

—George Ripley, the literary editor of the Tribune, is the only writer of note in literary circles who has never published a book. He deserves well of a long-suffering world.

—The House has voted to expunge from the official reports of its proceedings the words "laughter," "applause," &c. Like Mr. Pecksniff, our Congressmen are bound to be models of deportment.

VICINITY.

—Bishop Conroy is in a critical condition. —Albany had strawberries on Thursday. —Middletown uses 800 post-office boxes. —Stock of the First National Bank of Fish-kill Landing sells at 126. —Hay is $10 a ton in Newversick, and plentiful than the demand at that. —Somebody April-fooled a Midland engineer by letting him run over a rag baby. —Delhi is to have two trains on the Midland daily after the 15th. —Lovenstein has been baptized in the Roman Catholic faith. —Lake Champlain is open. This is unusually early. —Another Newburgh horror. That city was not paid for its town clock. —The coal trade at Newburgh is already getting brisk. —The first shad have been caught off Staten Island. —Middletown lines boys $3 who carry swill in the streets after 7 o'clock in the morning. —The Farmers' Bank of Hudson has a whale for a weather vane. —A $25,000 monument is to be erected in the Poughkeepsie cemetery. —A one-half inch line in the Moravia and Catskill stage line has been sold to J. S. Houghtaling. —The house, part of the furniture, and forty cords of stone wood belonging to John Cable at Walton were destroyed by fire last week. —Archibald has been unanimously elected Chief Engineer of the Newburgh Fire Department. —Rev. Mr. Schenck of West Chester broke his leg on Tuesday by being thrown from his carriage. —George H. Brown has sold to the Clove Spring Iron Works the Beekman Furnace property for $100,000. —The Hudson people's favorite amusement is to buy crackers and cheese and sit on the wharf watching the unloading of freight. —Some principle about this: A Middletown church member has refused $700 rent for a store to sell beer. —The Poughkeepsians are fighting pro and con before the Assembly Committee on their charter. —The fishermen predict that the average wholesale price of shad will be $20 per 100 this season.

REGULAR DISPATCHES TO DAILY FREEMAN.

FOREIGN.

SPAIN. Conflicting Reports. PARIS, April 3.—The Carlists have information that a revolt has broken out in Bilbao; that only half of the army there has been engaged in the recent battles; that General Santes will shortly march with a strong division upon Madrid and out of Marshal Serrano's communications.

MADRID, April 3.—An official dispatch states that 410 officers and men have deserted from Santes' command and come into the republican lines.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Another Ashantee Difference. LONDON, April 3.—The latest advices from Cape Coast Castle are to March 12th. An embassy numbering with its escort 250 persons had arrived there from the Ashantee King. It was reported that they refused to discontinue human sacrifices and disputed the amount of the indemnity.

METROPOLITAN NEWS. The Brooklyn United States District Attorneyship. NEW YORK, April 3.—District Attorney Tenney of Brooklyn called for the resignation of Assistant District Attorney Hughes. The latter accordingly forwarded it to Washington, accompanied by charges of official misconduct, which he alleged to be a brother-in-law of the Attorney General.

Gen. Leman was garrotted on Clinton avenue, Brooklyn, four o'clock this afternoon while walking with a number of ladies and robbed of a gold watch. The garrotter was captured after a desperate fight, some workmen and turned over to the police.

A NICE TRADE. New York detectives have discovered and arrested parties making and furnishing tools to prisoners confined in Sing Sing wherewith to break jail. Fifty of the latter are said to have escaped within six months. The officers obtained impious of locks at Sing Sing and applied to suspected parties to furnish them with skeleton keys. The locksmith fell into the trap and boasted he had already made keys for Sing Sing locks. A woman named Mayers, who has been engaged in conveying keys to prisoners, is now in jail at Lockport. She will be brought here.

WHOLESALE GRAIN THEFTS. The Brooklyn police last night captured five men in the act of stealing the entire cargo of the canal boat Charles Bates, loaded with wheat in bulk. One of the thieves was employed on the boat and in the absence of the captain last night hired a tug and had the boat towed from the Anchor Line dock to Brooklyn, where they were engaged in transferring the grain to sacks and removing it when captured. The cargo consisted of seven thousand bushels of wheat. Eighty bags were filled ready for removal and a large number of empty sacks on hand ready for filling.

PLYMOUTH CHURCH'S CONFERENCE IN BEECHER. At an annual meeting of prominent members of Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, a few evenings since both the project of building the largest church in Brooklyn and giving the pastor six months' vacation were favorably talked of as a fitting mark of the confidence of the members in Mr. Beecher and appreciation of his labors.

HAMILTON THE EMBLEZZER. Inspector Murphy of Jersey City has returned empty-handed from the pursuit of Hamilton, the defaulting Treasurer. He reports that Hamilton is still in Matamoros and that Cortina, who has possession of all the stolen bonds, offered to sell them for less than one-third their value. Hamilton is in a state of positive distress.

THE CITY INDEBTEDNESS. Five days ago the Commissioners of Accounts reported to Mayor Havemyer in relation to the bonded debt of the city and county of New York on the 31st of December, 1873. The Mayor refused to disclose the nature of the document, leaving the Commissioners of Accounts to do so. Late this evening the following statement was issued as the result of the investigation of the committee: Funded debt, total amount outstanding December 31st, 1873, $69,624,054.49; temporary debt to same date $21,927,372.30; revenue bonds $8,690,279.20; total $100,241,705.99. Total county debt $31,627,862.23; city and county debt, less outstanding warrants, $11,205,572.22. Total city and county debt, less sinking fund securities, $106,341,924.42.

THE CANAL AMENDMENT. Opinion of ex-Governor Seymour. ALBANY, April 3.—Ex-Governor Seymour, in a letter to Hon. Israel S. Hatch to-day, says: "I have given a good deal of thought to your proposed amendment to the Constitution with regard to our canals, and I have come to the conclusion that it should be adopted. No one should object to its submission to the people, as the discussion it will call forth will be of great value to the interests of commerce. Our canals are now in a critical condition; unless wise measures are now adopted they will become heavy burthens of taxation to our people, instead of being the channels of cheap transportation."

A LITTLE GAME. A Bank Cashier's Device to Hide his Crime. EXETER, Pa., April 3.—D. D. Williams, Cashier of the Connecticut National Bank, which was reported robbed some weeks ago, was arrested to-day, his bail having surrendered him. The morning of the reported robbery Williams was found in the bank groggery and senseless. Recent investigation of the bank books show a defalcation of $27,000 in addition to the reported robbery of $47,000, which caused suspicion of the guilt of Williams.

THE NEW UNITED STATES JUDGE. Hon. Wm. J. Wallace's Antecedents. SYRACUSE, April 3.—Hon. Wm. J. Wallace of this city, whom the President has nominated for United States Judge for the Northern District of New York, is a lawyer of very large practice and aged thirty-five. He is a son of the late E. F. Wallace, who was United States Consul at Santiago de Cuba under Presidents Lincoln and Johnson. The legal education of Judge Wallace was acquired principally at Hamilton College. Law School under Professor Theodore W. Dwight, now of Columbia College Law School. He was last year Mayor of Syracuse. The nomination is received here with great favor by the bar and citizens.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL. The Geneva Award. WASHINGTON, April 3.—The House Judiciary Committee this morning postponed the further consideration of the various propositions for the distribution of the Geneva award until Monday, the 15th inst., when it is their intention to take final action in the matter.

ZACH CHANDLER ON THE WAR PATH.

Arrest of His Libeller. WASHINGTON, April 3.—About 11 o'clock to-night detective Sergeant of this city arrested Mr. Buell, correspondent of the St. Louis Republican and Detroit Free Press, on a charge of criminal libel on a warrant sworn out by Senator Chandler of Michigan. Buell was taken to the residence of Judge Snell, the Police Court being closed, and gave bonds in $5,000, Don Platt being the bondsman, for his appearance before the Police Court at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

THE STATE LEGISLATURE.

SENATE. ALBANY, April 3. GENERAL ORDERS. In Committee of the Whole, Mr. THOMPSON in the chair, the following bills were considered: In relation to the estimates and appropriations for the support of government, New York City. Third reading.

In relation to the estimates and appropriations for the support of the government of the county of New York. Third reading.

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to inquire and report the occupation, means and residence of the various persons named as incorporators in each of the city railroad bills now before the Legislature; also, whether such persons or either of them are named to represent the railroad, and if so, whom and where they reside, or whether any understanding or agreement has been made by which said persons, or either of them, are to transfer or assign their shares or interests in any other person or persons, and that such committee have power to send for persons and papers.

The resolution was amended so as to confine the inquiry to Senate bills, and referred to the Railroad Committee.

Mr. FOX moved to recommit to the Railroad Committee the bill authorizing a railroad through Chambers street, New York. Carried.

Supplementary act for the incorporation of religious societies. Third reading. Recess until 7:30 P. M.

EVENING SESSION. The following bill was ordered to a third reading: Providing that the addition of water or any substance other than a sufficient quantity of ice to preserve milk in transportation to market is an adulteration. Any milk that is obtained from animals fed upon any substance in a state of putrefaction or fermentation, or which is impure, filthy or unwholesome, is hereby declared to be impure and unwholesome. Any violations of the above provisions may be punished as provided for in chapter 467 of the laws of 1862. Adjourned.

ASSEMBLY. REPORTS. Mr. LINCOLN, authorizing a street railroad in Catskill.

Mr. MACKIN, amending a street railroad charter in Poughkeepsie.

Also, relative to the collection of taxes in the town of Poughkeepsie.

Also, authorizing election of town officers in Delaware and Ulster counties.

Mr. HILPOT, incorporating the New York State Grange Patrons of Husbandry.

Also, to incorporate the Kingston Savings Bank.

BILLS PASSED. In relation to the High School in Poughkeepsie.

For the care of Washington's Headquarters in Newburgh. Adjourned until Monday evening at half past 7 o'clock.

UNITED STATES CONGRESS.

SENATE. WASHINGTON, April 2. Mr. COCKLING presented a petition of citizens of Onondaga county, N. Y., asking for a duty of fifteen cents on hops imported from foreign countries. Referred to the Committee on Finance.

Pending. A resolution on the Louisiana Portland Canal bill the Senate at 3:30 o'clock adjourned until Monday.

HOUSE. Among the bills passed was one reported by Mr. BANNING of Ohio from the Committee on Foreign Affairs requesting the President to use his good offices with the English government for the discharge from prison of Edward O'Meara, a Canadian subject, a Fenian prisoner convicted on a charge of murder in Manchester, England.

There were altogether some seventy bills passed, nearly all of them personal bills of others was a bill relinquishing the right to an island in Lake Michigan and one for the relief of the officers and crew of the United States ship Wyoming and Takanika.

Mr. SPEER of Pennsylvania offered a resolution directing the Committee on Invalid Pensions to inquire whether the system adopted by the managers of the National Military Asylum of deducting fines and forfeitures for breaches of discipline was in accordance with the spirit and meaning of the pension laws. Adopted.

Among reports made was one very important one from the Committee on Claims in the case of J. and T. Green of Jackson, Mississippi. The claim was for $1,000,000 for the value of cotton and woolen mills destroyed during the war of rebellion, by order of Gen. Grant and for cotton bonds and Confederate money taken from the bank at Jackson.

Mr. LAWRENCE of Ohio, Chairman of the committee, reported adversely to the claim on the ground that the property was destroyed as being an element of strength to the rebellion and that consequently the government is not bound to compensate the owners. The bill was laid on the table.

The House at 4:30 o'clock adjourned.

THE WEATHER.

To-Day's Probabilities. For the Middle States and lower lake region fresh and brisk easterly to northerly winds, generally cloudy weather and occasionally light rain and snow.

At Lagrange, Dutchess county, cows sold for $56, and oxen from $117 to $215 per pair.

The Hudson street M. E. Sunday School of Albany subscribed $600 for missions last Sunday. It only numbers 280.

A large temperance meeting was held at Madison on Friday evening, and one at Rhinebeck on Wednesday night.

Mr. Charles St. John has repurchased the Port Jervis Union. There is talk of a morning daily.

The temperance people of Newburgh have petitioned the Excise Commissioners to grant no licenses except to hotels.

Father O'Hare of Genesee has been sued for $5,000 damages for an assault upon a young lady.

A Sullivan county man has had a Hambleton suspended between slings since January, when he fell off a bridge and broke thro' 19-inch ice.

Liberty is exulting over old inhabitants. It has a President who has resided there fifty years, and a type who has set type for half a century.

A weasel entered a hotel at Peekskill on Thursday and killed a parrot hanging in a cage. A good rat dog was lying on the floor at the time.

On St. Patrick's Day a man named Joseph May got drunk in Havana, Pa., and went home and set fire to his house in some way. He was a bachelor and a miser. By great effort he was rescued, badly burned, but $1,500 he had hoarded up and stowed away in different places in the house was consumed.

There will not be more than one-third the lumber rafted on the Delaware this spring than there was last. Hemlock is bringing $12 a thousand in Philadelphia, which operators say is ruinous. There has been no lumber of any consequence run yet, but about 25,000,000 feet are awaiting a freshet.

1874. 1874. THE MANSION HOUSE.

I have leased the above Hotel, on Division and Lackawanna streets, and will at once renovate it and put it in first-class condition for guests. —April showers don't come to time.

—"An Inquiry" regarding the excise laws will be answered in Monday's issue.

—The steam engines at work at fires are great terrors to the horses, especially animals from the rural districts.

—Among the new business men in town is Wm. H. Dennis, who will open his harness shop on Abel street on Monday, 6th inst.

Mr. Dennis is a very good mechanic, and will suit his customers.

—Some of the uptown folks have a new way of tapping sap trees. They bore the hole in the top of the tree and then hang the poll under the spile by the aid of a hook or pole. Its awful advantage to the small boy.

—Ask Sheriff Saxton and Bill Hill to tell about that nice dinner they had the pleasure of eating in an underground habitation in Brooklyn, a few days ago. Bill has been seasick ever since thinking about it.

—If you have a bird cage that don't swing, hang him in the window where he can hear and see the horse-cars go by. If that don't make him raise his voice in a loud protest toward Heaven notice else will.

—There was profanity in the opinion of The Freeman employee, who when questioned as to his views on the financial question, remarked, "Well, on the whole, I am in favor of contraction, but personally I prefer inflation."

—The fire on Thursday demonstrated the need of a paid department, which would be the cheapest in the long run. The delay inseparable from the voluntary system allowed the flames to get full control, while with engine, horses and engine ready at all times the fire would have been extinguished with the loss of a few shingles.

Accident at Hickory Bush.

Arthur McGuirk was injured quite seriously in his left leg, at Hickory Bush, on Thursday, by being struck with a large stone from a blast.

Great Riot.

We learn that a great riot took place at Pine Hill on Friday; a full account will be given as soon as it can be ascertained.

Alderman Appointed.

The Common Council last evening appointed George Callender to fill the vacancy in the Third Ward caused by the resignation of Alderman Vandling.

Correction.

In the item published regarding N. Y., K. & E. R. suits we should have said receivers (not referees) were appointed by Judge Westbrook.

A Spark Arrestor Needed.

The engine of the Villard railroad set fire to the portion of the village of Ellenville twice last Monday. It was extinguished with water without material damage. This makes the sixth fire in Ellenville that has originated from the same cause.

Huguenot Horticultural Society.

There will be a meeting of the Board of Management of the Huguenot Horticultural Society at the law office of Van Dusen & Clearwater on John street, on Monday evening, April 4, at 7:30. The Board will determine at this meeting whether the society will hold an exhibition next fall.

Religious Notices.

There will be no service in the Roundout Baptist Church to-morrow morning or evening.

To-morrow will be an occasion of great interest to the Roundout Presbyterians, as they worship in their new church for the first time.

Rev. J. J. Dean of the Roundout M. E. Church will preach on Sunday evening on "Woman's War on Whiskey."

Camping Out.

On Friday night of last week Wm. Townsend of Greenfield started with his horse from Ellenville to go home. For some unknown reason he missed the road and drove in the Beerskill creek, where he passed a portion of the night in a situation that would have had its drawbacks even to a full-blooded radical temperance man. Fortunately the water was not deep enough to drown him, and on the return of daylight and a clearer intellect he managed to find his way out of the difficulty.

Fifteen Ball Pool.

The uptown habitues of the Broad House had a very pleasant time Thursday night, indulging in Griffin's Corner lawer into the mysteries of that beautiful, though somewhat uncertain game called fifteen ball pool. The Delaware county chap did very well considering he didn't play with a spoon, which the other players handled very much as a hungry man would go for a lone oyster in a soup dish, and was only satisfied with two games out of every three. Fifteen ball pool is a game peculiarly adapted to the qualities of legal gentlemen, and after a little practice any lawyer will be able to pocket a retaining fee.

Rosedale.

On entering Rosedale from Kingston by the Wallkill Valley Railway line has a good view of the scene of last Wednesday night's fire, as the buildings consumed were all adjoined one another, and being all frame structures no unignited brick or stone walls left themselves in the New office of Mr. H. H. Haight, where our agents can be found at any time, and the business of the paper will be attended to here at the General office.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

BUSINESS NOTICE.

We are happy to announce to our patrons that we have secured the well-known, prominent Job Printer, Mr. A. V. HAIGHT, late of Ellenville, who will hereafter have entire charge of the Job Printing Department of the Freeman establishment. Mr. Haight's skill and taste are too well known to need any recommendation from us. We are now prepared to do the finest kinds of Job Printing at reasonable rates.

—April showers don't come to time.

—"An Inquiry" regarding the excise laws will be answered in Monday's issue.

—The steam engines at work at fires are great terrors to the horses, especially animals from the rural districts.

—Among the new business men in town is Wm. H. Dennis, who will open his harness shop on Abel street on Monday, 6th inst.

Mr. Dennis is a very good mechanic, and will suit his customers.

—Some of the uptown folks have a new way of tapping sap trees. They bore the hole in the top of the tree and then hang the poll under the spile by the aid of a hook or pole. Its awful advantage to the small boy.

—Ask Sheriff Saxton and Bill Hill to tell about that nice dinner they had the pleasure of eating in an underground habitation in Brooklyn, a few days ago. Bill has been seasick ever since thinking about it.

—If you have a bird cage that don't swing, hang him in the window where he can hear and see the horse-cars go by. If that don't make him raise his voice in a loud protest toward Heaven notice else will.

—There was profanity in the opinion of The Freeman employee, who when questioned as to his views on the financial question, remarked, "Well, on the whole, I am in favor of contraction, but personally I prefer inflation."

—The fire on Thursday demonstrated the need of a paid department, which would be the cheapest in the long run. The delay inseparable from the voluntary system allowed the flames to get full control, while with engine, horses and engine ready at all times the fire would have been extinguished with the loss of a few shingles.

Accident at Hickory Bush.

Arthur McGuirk was injured quite seriously in his left leg, at Hickory Bush, on Thursday, by being struck with a large stone from a blast.

Great Riot.

We learn that a great riot took place at Pine Hill on Friday; a full account will be given as soon as it can be ascertained.

Alderman Appointed.

The Common Council last evening appointed George Callender to fill the vacancy in the Third Ward caused by the resignation of Alderman Vandling.
